FACEBOOK.COM QUOTES ABOUT ROYAL BLUNTS SPONSORING “PUT YOUR MONEY WHERE YOUR MOUTH IS” AT PITZER COLLEGE 11-23-2008

Hello. My name is Victoreck, I'm a part of the group The Stolen Beats Projects who played last night. I recognized you at the show, but you looked very busy and I never had the opportunity to introduce myself personally. I wanted to thank you for coming out and working the event, everyone was talking about the wraps and I thought it really legitimized the event. The SBP plays shows fairly frequently locally, and throughout LA. Perhaps in the near future we can talk more, and possibly bring your energy and sponsorship to another show. Good things.

Peace

Victoreck

Everyone is feeling the Royals! I hope everything worked out for you at the event too. Next Semester there will be some events happening that I'm sure would love to have any organization you represent come to, should I let you know what they are and other info? It was nice meeting you and if I run into you in we should kick it.

FUTURXTV.COM CEO / PRODUCER / WRITER BIO:

DAVID L. WATTS

David L. Watts is the CEO of a multi-media production company called The FuTurX, LLC and co-CEO of a classic African-American DVD company called Tempest Entertainment. Mr. Watts is also a professional writer. On October 5th, 2001 Walt Disney released Max Keeble's Big Move which was based on Watts's script, My Greatest Mistake, about Mr. Watts's suburban high school experiences. Mr. Watts's current interest is in developing diverse stories that are commercially entertaining yet culturally sensitive such as Soul On Ice, the true story about the Detroit Rockies, an all-black teenage hockey team that won the 1995 US-Canadian Championship. Watts is a writer and producer on Soul On Ice.

The FuTurX, LLC was also the producer's rep for David Velo Stewart's independent digital film called Hip-Hop 4 Life which screened at the 2002 Sundance Film Festival and the 2002 Hollywood Black Film Festival. Mr. Watts is also the executive producer of Berlin Beatbox Championship, Hiphopbattle.com: Detroit vs. New York, 5X4 City vs City MC Battle. Mr. Watts is the producer of the HD DVD Hip-Hop Life and the theatrical documentaries The Good, The Bad and The Bling and German Hip-Hop. Watts is the CEO of The FuTurX, LLC's new urban/Hip-Hop broadband channel, FuTurXTV. The goal of FuTurXTV is to be a premier producer, aggregator and distributor of original, unique and innovative urban/Hip-Hop global content.

Mr. Watts is a graduate of the USC School of Cinema-Television. While at USC, Watts was the founder and president of the USC African-American Film Association (AAFA). Mr. Watts created and implemented the first eight week film retrospective dedicated to Sidney Poitier covering his entire career as an actor/director/producer. The Poitier Retrospective was just a few of the great multi-racial cinematic programs Mr. Watts had the privilege and support to put on while at USC. Watts is also an online journalist for FuTurXTV and Hiphopbattle.com, has a mobile show with www.morfmobile.com and has an Industry nickname of "Money Train".
